Reprint of a book first published in Sydney in 1975.
The Beale family, who converted to Quakerism soon after their arrival in Ireland in 1652, had lived in Mountmellick, Co. Laois for some two centuries when the famine of the 1840's swept through the country. To give employment during this time Joseph Beale continued to operate his mills, with the result that by 1850 he was financially ruined. He then decided to make a new life for himself in Australia and these letters give a vivid picture of his early experiences there.
- 15 (Belfast interest). *The City of Belfast - Official Handbook. €25.00

- 20 Bewley, Charles. Memoirs of a Wild Goose. Foreword by Lt-Col John P. Duggan. Edited with an Afterword by W. J. McCormack. €35.00
Lilliput Press, Dublin 1989. 1st edition. Medium 8vo. xii + 296 pp. Paper boards with gilt spine lettering. Very good in slightly rubbed dj.
Charles Bewley, who was born in Dublin in 1888 was Irish Minister in Berlin between 1933 and 1939, a position from which he could hardly be said to have acquitted himself with much honour. He died in Rome in 1969 and this was the first appearance in print of his memoirs. The Foreword by Col. Duggan fills in some gaps "where Bewley is discreetly silent."
The dust jacket design is incredibly fussy and silly.
- 21 (Bibliographical interest). *Brian Keogh - Catalogue Three. €35.00

Why do people who publish their own books so often create such an air of anonymity around themselves ? It is almost impossible to tell where this book comes from, only that the author was born in Dublin City; but to its credit and, unusually for such a publication, it contains brilliantly reproduced photographs.

- 43 Burke, William P. The Irish Priests in the Penal Times (1660-1670). Introduction by Mgr Patrick Corish. €65.00
Irish University Press, Shannon 1969. 1st edition thus. Post 8vo. viii + 491 pp. Green cloth with gilt lettering on spine College library stamp on end-paper & title-page, else lovely clean bright copy in lightly rubbed dj.
This book was first published in 1914 and was compiled "from the State Papers in H.M. Record Offices, Dublin and London, The Bodleian Library and the British Museum."
Patrick Corish's very useful introduction is new to this edition.
William P. Burke was born in Clonmel, Co. Tipperary in 1864. Following his ordination at Maynooth in 1891 he served in several parishes, including Cahir and Lismore. He was also the author of 'A History of Clonmel' published in 1907.

- 54 Cecil, David. Lord M. or the Later Life of Lord Melbourne. €45.00
Constable, London 1954. 1st edition. Post 8vo. xiv + 348 pp. Frontispiece portrait & 7 plates. Grey cloth with gilt spine label. A little light wear at cover extremis, else a very nice bright copy.
William Lamb, later 2nd Viscount Melbourne, was born in London in 1779. His marriage to Caroline Ponsonby in 1805 became one of the most infamous failures in history. In 1807 he was elected MP for Portlinton, Queen's County, a position which he held until 1812. He was appointed Chief Secretary of Ireland in 1827, an office in which it appears he was greatly liked, but which he only held for some two years. He became very friendly with Daniel O'Connell and was ever sympathetic to the Irish cause in parliament.
- 55 Chesterton, G. K. Irish Impressions. €30.00
Collins, London 1920. 2nd impression. Crown 8vo. vi + 244 + (6) pp. Original green cloth with lettering in blind. Front end-paper replaced. Small number written on title-page. A little wear at cover extremis, else still a good clean tight copy.

- 59 Cleary, Rev. H. W. The Orange Society. €85.00
Bernard King, Melbourne 1897. 1st edition. Post 8vo. x + 422 pp. Original cloth with gilt lettering. College ex-lib stamp on half-title page. Lacking front end-paper. Some overall wear on cover, with small bump near top of front panel, but internally a good clean copy. Very scarce.
Mainly concerned with the goings-on of the Orange Order in and around Melbourne, particularly in relation to the case a Catholic Post Office employee named Sullivan whom the Order tried to 'fix-up' by placing false information. There is of course much of Irish interest, including what is pretty much a history of the Order.
- 60 Cleeve, Brian (Compiled by). Dictionary of Irish Writers - First Series. €16.00
Mercier Press, Cork 1967. 1st edition. Small crown 8vo. 143 pp. Very good in lightly rubbed pictorial card wrappers.

- 75 (Croke, Rev. Dr). Goepfert, Rev. Prosper. The Life of the Venerable Francis Mary Paul Libermann - Founder of the Congregation of the Holy Heart of Mary. Preface by His Grace the Most Rev. Dr. Croke. €50.00
M. H. Gill, Dublin 1880. 1st edition. Crown 8vo. 558 pp. Frontispiece portrait & 1 plate. Brown bevelled cloth with borders blocked in black & blind, gilt lettering on spine & device on front panel. There is a little rubbing at cover extremities, else this is a very good copy.
Thomas Croke was appointed archbishop of Cashel in 1875, a position he held until his death in 1902. He is probably better remembered today for having a large sporting stadium named after him.
The book was written by Prosper Goepfert while at Rockwell College, Co. Tipperary, from where the dedication is signed, and no doubt while he was teaching at that institution. An inscription on the verso of that page says, "To Brother Dominie on the occasion of his Silver Jubilee / 18th July '84 / with my best wishes" seems most likely to be the author's.

Then in Old Portadown
Rallied men of renown
To support the old sash at Drumcree
Led by bold Billy Wright,
'Twas a heart-warming sight
As they challenged the crass RUC.

From a poem (p.47) called 'The Siege of Drumcree' by Kenny McClinton, a thug who once advocated the beheading of Catholics and, who, while in prison, gained early release by claiming to have found Christ. Going by his "poetic" output it seems unlikely.

- 91 Donleavy, J. P. *Are You Listening Rabbi Low. €25.00

Talbot Press, Dublin / Fisher Unwin, London 1917. 1st edition. Crown 8vo. (4) + 129 pp. Paper labels on spine & front panel. Belvedere college prize label on paste-down. Cover a little dull, else very good.
Writing under the pseudonym John Eglington, the book contains thirteen essays by William K. Magee, a librarian in the National Library, he appears in a somewhat satirical guise in James Joyce's 'Ulysses'. The contents are a lot more Irish than Anglo.
- 115 Ervine, St. John. Craigavon - Ulsterman. €45.00
Allen & Unwin, London 1949. 1st edition. Medium 8vo. xxiv + 676 pp. Frontispiece portrait & 15 plates. Orange cloth with spine lettering in gilt. Writing on front end-papers & a few small marks. Light cover wear, else a very good clean copy.
The book is as much an exposition of Ulster Unionism as it is a biography of James Craig, who became the first Prime Minister of Northern Ireland in 1921. The writing on the end-papers is a long list of names headed "AEI 1957-1960". Has anyone any idea of what that may mean?
- 116 Evans, Martina. The Glass Mountain. €25.00

- 118 Fahey, Rev. Denis. The Mystical Body of Christ in the Modern World. €22.00
Browne & Nolan, Dublin 1944. Reprint. Post 8vo. xiv + 364 pp. Paper boards & cloth spine. A little toning at margins. Small stamp on title-page. Light cover wear, else very good.
Contains a prefatory letter from Rev. J. Kinane, Bishop of Waterford and Lismore. Though the book is mostly concerned with the influence of Freemasonry and Communism on public life, it is however extremely anti-Semitic in attitude, which, as this is a reprinting of the 1939 edition, is quite unforgivable.
- 119 Fairley, J. S. An Irish Beast Book - A Natural History of Ireland's Furred Wildlife. €40.00
Blackstaff Press, Belfast 1975. 1st edition. Post 8vo. x + 202 pp. 57 in-text figures. Very good in slightly worn pictorial card wrappers. Scarce.
Dr. Fairley's book remains the seminal work on the subject and, though his approach is always scientific, he nevertheless succeeds in being both amusing and anecdotal.
- 120 Farrell, M. J. (Molly Keane). Mad Puppetstown. €75.00
Collins, London 1931. 1st edition. Small crown 8vo. 288 pp. Original pale green cloth. Re-cased, but retaining original backstrip. Cloth a little faded / soiled, but internally, apart from a few small marks a very good copy. Scarce.
Brown and Clarke 472.
M. J. Farrell, who was born in 1905 in Kildare, was the daughter of the famous poetess Moira O'Neill. She wrote many novels and plays under this pseudonym and was, for a long while, a very popular author. Then, for some thirty years her career went into a steep decline, until 1981 when she published under her own name, Molly Keane, the hugely successful 'Good Behavior'.
- 121 Farrell, Anthony, Viveinne Guinness & Julian Lloyd (Edited by). My Generation. Rock 'n' Roll Remembered - An Imperfect History. €32.00

- 127 Fitzgerald, Garret. *All in a Life - An Autobiography. €20.00
Gill & Macmillan, Dublin 1991. 2nd impression. Medium 8vo. xiv + 674 pp. 61 mostly photographic illustrations. Silk marker. Green cloth with lettering in gilt on spine. A few small marks on end-papers, otherwise a very good clean copy in slightly worn dj.
The son of Desmond Fitzgerald, Garret Fitzgerald was born in Dublin in 1926. An academic and economist by profession, he was, in spite of his father's involvement in politics, a politician almost by accident. After some years as a Senator he was elected to the Dáil in 1969. From 1973 served as Minister for Foreign Affairs and after the government fell in 1977 he became leader of Fine Gael. Following the 1981 election he became Taoiseach, and again following the 1982 election. Though many of his attempts to create a pluralist state were unsuccessful they did help create an atmosphere for change and his work on the North was of lasting importance. He died in 2011.

The life and extraordinary times of Dublin born Richard Brinsley Sheridan, theatre manager, politician, eloper with the beautiful Elizabeth Linley and, perhaps best remembered as the playwright who wrote that perennial favourite 'The School for Scandal'.
- 147 (Gill, Eric). Peace, David. (Compiled, with introduction by). Addendum and Corrigenda to the Inscriptional Work of Eric Gill. €40.00
Brick Row Book Shop, San Francisco 1972. 1st edition. Post 8vo. 36 + (2) pp. 1 fold-out plate. Errata slip. Paper boards with paper spine label. Tiny dent at cover fore-edge, else very good.
Edition limited to 275 copies.

- 148 (Gladstone, William Ewart). Hair Splitting as a Fine Art. Letters to My Son Herbert. €55.00
Tinsley Brothers, London 1882. Fourth thousand. Post 8vo. (4) + 56 + (3 advts) pp. Some light soiling on half-title & and occasional small marks. There is very slight creasing at fore-corners, else a very good copy in slightly soiled original printed wrappers. Scarce.
A little volume of satirical writings by the famous British Prime Minister. Though of no direct concern with matters Irish there are several passing references, and naturally anything written by a man who had such an influence on Irish affairs has to be of great interest in understanding his mind.
It was followed some time later by another in the 'Hair Splitting' series called 'More Letters to My Son Herbert'.
- 149 Glatt, John. The Chieftains - The Authorized Biography. €25.00
Century, London 1997. 1st edition. Medium 8vo. xvii + 331 pp. 30 monochrome photographic illustrations. Black cloth with spine lettering in gilt. An about fine copy in similar dj.
The 'biography' of one of Ireland's greatest and, most enduring, bands.
- 150 Goldie, Francis. The First Christian Mission to the Great Mogul: or, The Story of Blessed Rudolf Acquaviva, and His Four Companions in Martyrdom, of the Society of Jesus. €40.00
M. H. Gill, Dublin / Book & Art Company, London 1897. 1st edition. Crown 8vo. xiii + (2) + 185 + (1 advt) pp. 2 fold-out maps. 3 fold-out genealogical charts. Red cloth with gilt lettering on spine & front panel. Spine slightly faded, else a very nice bright copy.
One has to give Francis Goldie credit for a sense of humour, for not everyone could come up with a euphemism like "companions in martyrdom." That must surely have taken some of the sting out of having ones "head split open by a sword-cut ... while the brain poured out of the wound." Did these fools ever think of just minding their own business?
- 151 Goldsmith, Oliver. Bewick's Select Fables of Aesop. Together with The Life of Aesop by Oliver Goldsmith. €55.00
Printed by Richard Ellis for Cheshire House, New York 1932. 1st edition thus. Post 8vo. (4) + xii + 138 pp. 68 engravings by Thomas Bewick. Pale blue cloth with paper labels on front panel & spine. Slight off-setting from engravings. Spine a little faded, else a very good unopened copy of this attractive item.
Limited edition of 1200 copies (this out of sequence).
A charming book, and how could it be otherwise, with the forever popular fables of Aesop, Oliver Goldsmith's short, but beautifully written, life, and the superb woodcut illustrations of Thomas Bewick.
- 152 Gormanston, Eileen. A Little Kept. €30.00
The Catholic Book Club, London 1954. 1st edition thus. Crown 8vo. 175 pp. Red cloth lettered in black on spine. Some browning of paper at margins & a few small marks, but overall a good clean copy in rather dull dj.
First published a couple of years earlier, this is a fine example of a memoir, rather than an autobiography.
- 153 Graves, Charles L. (Introduction by). Humours of Irish Life. €25.00
Gresham Publishing, Dublin. No date c.1920. 1st edition ? Crown 8vo. xlviii + 349 pp. Frontispiece & 3 plates. Front hinge completely broken at spine, else a good clean copy.
Represented are a total of twenty-five authors, including William Carleton, Douglas Hyde, Patrick Kennedy, Charles Kickham, Joseph Le Fanu, and Somerville and Ross.

First published in 1909. The plays included are 'Spreading the News', 'Hyacinth Halvey'', 'The Rising of the Moon', 'The Jackdaw', 'The Workhouse Ward', 'The Travelling Man' and 'The Gaol Gate'.
- 157 Grogan, Vincent. The Principles and Practice of Irish Income Tax including The Finance Acts, 1934 to 1941. €30.00
Morris, Dublin 1941. 1st edition. Small crown 4to. xvi + 294 + (28 index) pp. Errata slip. Red cloth lettered in gilt on spine. A very good clean copy.
Oliver (Noll) Gogarty's copy with his signature and annotations on the end-papers.
- 158 Grogan, Vincent. The Principles and Practice of Irish Income Tax including the Finance Acts, 1934 to 1951. €25.00
Morris, Dublin 1952. 2nd edition, with 1952 supplement. Crown 8vo. xxviii + 379 pp. Red cloth lettered in gilt. A very good copy in lightly rubbed dj.
- 159 Guthrie, William. A New Geographical, Historical, and [...] Grammar; and Present State of the Several Kingdoms of the World. €60.00
For John Exshaw, Dublin 1789. 10th edition, corrected. Post 8vo. 12 + 934 pp. 17 fold-out maps (ex-22) & 1 plate. Full contemporary tree calf, with raised spine bands. Front panel detached. Lacking end-papers. Some maps chipped at edge. Title-page soiled, but in spite of these faults, this is still a good clean tight copy in very good working condition.
Lacking the frontispiece map, and those for Ireland, Hungary, North America and South America. Regarding this Dublin edition "the article on Ireland as here, is almost wholly new wrote, and an Addition made to it of above six pages".
- 160 Gwynn, Stephen. The Famous Cities of Ireland. €55.00
Maunsell, Dublin & London / Macmillan, New York 1915. 1st edition. Crown 8vo. xii + 352 pp. Colour frontispiece, 3 colour plates & 39 in-text illustrations by Hugh Thomson. Green cloth with front panel decorated in blind & gilt lettering on spine. Book-label on pastedown. A few tiny marks & just a trace of wear on cover extrens, else a very nice bright copy.
The cities here described by Stephen Gwynn and most pleasantly pictured by Hugh Thomson are Waterford, Dundalk, Galway, Maynooth, Kilkenny, Derry, Limerick, Dublin, Wexford, Cork and Belfast.

- 161 Hackett, Francis. Ireland - A Study in Nationalism. €30.00
Huebsch, New York 1918. Revised edition. Post 8vo. 410 pp. Original blue printed cloth. Some small marks on prelims & cover rather worn, but a good tight working copy.
Born in Kilkenny city in 1883, educated there and at Clongowes Wood College, in 1901 Francis Hackett emigrated to the United States where he worked in various jobs before finding his niche in journalism and as editor of 'New Republic' magazine. Returning to the new state of Ireland with his Danish born wife in 1929, they remained here until 1937 when that same new state banned both his novel 'The Green Lion' and her 'Eve's Doctor', at which time they moved to Denmark. He died in Copenhagen 1962.
This revised edition was published some four months after the first edition."
- 162 Hallack, Cecily (Arranged by). The Small Person's Mass Book. €25.00
Macmillan, London 1934. 1st edition ? Small crown 8vo. 32 pp. 15 full page colour illustrations by Dom Pedro Subercaseaux-Errazuriz. Pictorial paper boards. Disbound. A few small marks, else good & clean but cover quite worn.
The illustrations are very attractive.
- 163 Hammond, Reginald J. W. (Edited by). The Complete Ireland - A Survey of the Principal Resorts and Places of Interest. Red Guide. €25.00
Ward, Lock, London 1968. 3rd edition. Small crown 8vo. 320 pp. Fold-out frontispiece map in colour & 13 similar maps & plans. 32 photographic illustrations. End-paper maps. Red cloth with gilt lettering. Slight wear at spine, else a very good copy.
McVeagh p.72. Mr Hammond succeeds in getting through County Laois in less than half a page which is well up to Frank O'Connor's record for speed. In fact golf courses seem a lot more important to him than the Slieve Bloom mountains which do not even get a mention.
- 164 Hanly, David. In Guilt and in Glory. €30.00
Hutchinson, London 1979. 1st edition. Post 8vo. 299 pp. Green paper boards with gilt spine lettering. Small stamp on end-paper, else a very good copy in similar dj.
This is the first novel by the well known broadcaster who was born in Limerick in 1944.
In it he "dares to suggest that the tradition epitomised in his country's famous novels is a pit into which has fallen not only the great Irish novelists but also the whole nation.""
- 165 Hare, Augustus J. C. The Gurneys of Earham. €55.00
George Allen, London 1895. 1st edition. Crown 8vo. 2 volumes. x + 343 & viii + 352 + 4 advt's pp. 2 frontispiece & 31 photogravure plates with tissue guards, 19 in-text wood engravings. Original black cloth with panels decorated in red & spine lettering in gilt. Some wear at spine ends, else a very good clean set. Scarce.
Biographical history of the well known Quaker family who intermarried with the Frys. There is some material of Irish interest and much that is useful from a genealogical point of view.
- 166 Harris, Gerald (Edited by). The Irish Jurist Together with The Irish Jurist Reports for the Year 1938. €50.00
Jurist Publishing Co., Dublin 1938. 1st edition. Crown 4to. viii + 64 + (8) + (4) + 98 pp. Blue cloth with spine lettering in gilt. Very good to near fine in similar dj.
Volume 4 of the series.

- 169 Hay, Rev. Dr. George. The Devout Christian Instructed in the Faith of Christ from the Written Word. €30.00
James Duffy, Dublin. No date c.1880. Revised & corrected edition. Small crown 8vo. xxiv + 573 pp. Original brown cloth with panels decorated in blind & lettering in gilt on spine. Spine somewhat faded & a little light wear on cover, else a very good clean copy.
- 170 Hay, Right Rev. G. The Sincere Christian Instructed in the Faith of Christ from the Written Word. €85.00
Printed by J. Christie, Dublin 1822. 1st edition. Post 8vo. 552 pp. Bound in full contemporary diced calf with spine lettering in gilt & six with gilt ruled blind stamped compartments. Prelims a little dust soiled & occasional small marks. Some fairly light cover wear, else a very good clean tight copy.
There is nothing to indicate if this work had been previously published, either in Dublin or elsewhere. We have also been unable to unearth any biographical material relating to Dr. Hay other than that he appears to have gone on to become a bishop.
- 171 Hayden, Mary & George A. Moonan. A Short History of the Irish People. Part 1. From the Earliest Times to 1603. Part 2. From 1603 to Present Time. €36.00

"Reprinted in part from 'The Irish World' of May 20 1933. This publication is intended for private circulation only" and it appears to have been distributed directly by the author from a note on the half-title page.
Dealing at great length with the ethical and moral questions arising from the use of hunger strike as a political weapon, Michael Hogan makes extensive use of the then fairly recent example of Terence MacSwiney's death while on hunger strike. He "points out the defects of those who would summarily dismiss every hunger-striker as a suicide. ... its essential elements have not been presented by any other writer in the clear manner that Father Hogan has done."
- 183 Hogan, Robert & James Kilroy. *The Irish Literary Theatre 1899-1901. €35.00

Although not actually born in Ireland Bernard Vaughan's family owned property in the country, including Rosstucker Castle in Co. Mayo; there he spent part of his boyhood, later returning to preach at the opening of the new church at Castlebar. In James Joyce's 'Ulysses' Leopold Bloom heard his sermon on Christ or Pilate at Gardiner Street church, but felt that the congregation was far more keen to hear Molly's rendition of the Rossini's 'Stabat Mater'; elsewhere Father John Conmee told Mrs Sheehy that he was "a very great success. A wonderful man really."

Dionysius Lardner, the son of a solicitor, was born in Dublin in 1793. At the age of fourteen he joined his father's firm, but hating the work, in 1812 he was sent to TCD. There he made brilliant progress, obtaining numerous prizes and an MA in 1819. He married in 1815, but his extra-marital strays led to the birth of a son who went on to renown as the playwright Dion Boucicault. Some time later he moved to London University where he became embroiled in much controversy. Though many of his scientific opinions were incorrect, he was an early supporter of Charles Babbage. Around 1840 he became involved with what the 'Annual Register' referred to as "a lady of mature years" with whom he eloped. Certainly an interesting man who died in Naples in 1859.

This is fine biographical portrait of that all round Renaissance man and sometime friend (sort of) of James Joyce.
To set mankind a clean example
Christ scourged the cashiers from the fane
But their revenge was sly and simple:
The money-changers bought the Temple
The hard bright eyes are back again.

Born in Clara, Co Offaly in 1919, Vivian Mercier received his early education at Abbeyleix and Portora Royal School before going on to TCD. An interest in Samuel Beckett began with the reading of 'Murphy' on its publication in 1938 and he can probably be credited with being the first to plead an acceptance for that author's work. His interest culminated with the publication of 'Beckett/Beckett' in 1978, upon which, together with the present work, first published in 1962, will his legacy depend. He died in 1989.

- 268 Mitchel, John. *Jail Journal: or, Five Years in British Prisons. €35.00
Cameron & Ferguson, Glasgow. No date c.1890. Author's edition. Small crown 8vo. viii + 9-320 pp. A couple of small convent stamps. In original green with overall wear, but internally good & clean.
John Mitchel was born in Dungiven, Co. Derry in 1815 of Presbyterian stock. He founded the 'United Irishman' newspaper in 1848. Convicted of treason he was sentenced to twenty years transportation, being sent to Tasmania, from where he escaped in 1853, eventually reaching the United States. There his disgusting advocacy of slavery and backing of the southern side in the Civil War leaves him a far less attractive figure than he is usually portrayed. For all that, the 'Jail Journal' is considered a classic of prison literature.

It appears that Radcliffe Hall was for some peculiar reason "reared as a boy by her parents," so it could hardly have been very surprising that she went on to exhibit lesbian tendencies. This partially autobiographical novel which "narrates the story of a young girl called Stephen" was condemned and suppressed shortly after publication in 1928, leading to a notorious and important obscenity trial. Though it now appears tame to the point of prudishness, it is of course still regarded as "one of the premier lesbian works" and something of a milestone in gay literature.
(Quoted from Tim Woods 'Twentieth-Century Novelists').

R & T Washbourne, London. No date c.1900. Cameron & Ferguson edition. Small crown 8vo. viii + 376 pp. A very nice clean copy in decorated wrappers which are a little chipped at spine ends.
Charles Hamilton Teeling was born in Lisburn, Co. Antrim in 1778. He became a leading figure in the United Irishmen and was arrested with his father in 1796 on suspicion of treason. However he survived the Rebellion, unlike his brother Bartholomew who was executed in 1798, and he went on to become a journalist and newspaper proprietor. This 'Personal Narrative' was first published in 1828 and is a valuable insiders account, especially in giving a Northern perspective of events.

Born in 1767, possibly in County Roscommon, John Walker attended Trinity College, going on to become a B.D. in 1800. Some four years later he underwent a change in his religious opinions and offered to resign, but the Provost thought it his duty to expel him. On leaving he became leader of a fairly extreme Calvinistic sect called 'The Church of God', more commonly referred to as the 'Walkerites'. One of the foremost classical scholars of his day, he edited and annotated many works. Shortly before his death in 1833, the Board of TCD, in an attempt to ameliorate their earlier behavior, granted him an allowance of £600 a year.
